

Faculty of Economics and Political Science-Volume 1. Issue 1

Faculty of Economics and Political Science celebrated the graduation of the class of 2023 in a memorable ceremony

The Faculty of Economics and Political Science (FEPS) conferred 255 graduating students in a delightful event at the university premises on the 27th of September 2023.

During the ceremony, two esteemed members of the Faculty of Economics and Political Science (FEPS) were presented with honored certificates in recognition of their exceptional accomplishments. Abeer Rashdan, was promoted to an Associate Professor in the field of Economics and Reham Gamal, promoted to a Political Mass Media lecturer.

The ceremony was preceded by a motivational address delivered by a distinguished alumnus, and by the recitation of the pledge of the trade Union, which emphasized the commitment to upholding the principles of integrity and professionalism.

Future university also organized a remarkable entertainment program for the graduating students, Faculty members, and the families by hosting a captivating fire show and a lovely musical performance played by Nesma Abdelaziz, a renowned Marimba player to commemorate this significant occasion.

Dean's Welcome Message

Dear Colleagues,

Welcome to Fall 2023 at the Faculty of Economics & Political Science- FUE! It is time for connections and interactions. We cordially welcome our freshman class and new Faculty to our vibrant community. For FEPS team returning back from summer vacation, thank you for your nonstop efforts and sincere commitment to our mission. I look forward to a strong, exciting and successful academic year.

Faculty of Economics and Political science organized an orientation session for new students

The Faculty of Economics and Political Science welcomed prospective students for an orientation session at the faculty on October 1st, 2023. The event was attended by the academic staff members for a brief introduction designed to facilitate the adjustment of new students to their collegiate surroundings. Professor Salwa Thabet, the dean of the Faculty of Economics and Political Science, delivered a welcoming speech addressing the academic norms, rules and code of behavior. Vice-Deans and Head of Departments also had the opportunity to present information on the faculty programs, credit hour system and university requirements, grading system and learning tools.

Staff members were also provided with the opportunity of introducing the concepts of Quality Accreditation and academic cooperation. Finally, new students were informed of the different ways the Faculty strives to develop students' skills and knowledge by offering internships, trainings, workshops, and extracurricular activities.

1/10/2023

Faculty of Economics and Political Science Unveils Media Training Center in Grand Soft Opening

In a landmark move towards enhancing media proficiency, the Faculty of Economics and Political Science at Future University in Egypt proudly announces the soft opening of its cutting-edge Media Training Center. The center is poised to revolutionize media education, offering an array of workshops and paid courses focused on media production, editing, designing, and more.

Designed to equip students and professionals alike with the essential skills needed in today's dynamic media landscape, the Media Training Center aims to be a hub of innovation and creativity. The workshops will cover a diverse range of topics, including but not limited to video production, audio editing, graphic design, and content strategy.

Exclusive Podcast Series from Media Training Center Debuts October 8th!

Faculty of Economics and Political Science's Media Training Center at FUE launches a series of insightful podcasts covering a diverse range of topics that hold significance for everyone. These podcasts are a testament to the diverse and insightful discussions that the Media Training Center aims to foster. It is worth mentioning that the inaugural podcasts will be available for streaming and download on all major platforms this Sunday, October 8th, 2023.

Sahar Talaat, guest speaker on Nile TV International commenting on the DAWWIE Initiative.

Sahar Talaat, Political Mass Media assistant professor at the Faculty of Economics and Political Science within Future University in Egypt, was invited as guest speaker on the morning program of Nile Tv International on 27 August 2023.

According to Dr. Sahar, the program holds significant importance in advancing societal development by facilitating the empowerment of young women through increased access to education and opportunities for self-expression. The campaign aims to alter societal perceptions regarding the acceptance of diversity and the promotion of equality among young females and males. This will be achieved through the implementation of educational initiatives and innovative pedagogical approaches, as well as the provision of comprehensive assistance for the physical and psychological well-being of the younger population.

Dawwie (A sound with an Impact) is an initiative with the aim of empowering girls and providing them with access to diverse range of skills and services.

A student represented Future University in Egypt as a speaker at the youth committee session of the National Dialogue.

Nourhan Reda

Kadry, a student at the Faculty of Economics and Political Science, FUE and Executive Director of the African Union Simulation Model, represented the university as a speaker at the National Dialogue's Youth

Committee Session on Youth Political empowerment and support of student unions and activities, on September 7, 2023.

The African union model is considered the first created among private universities. The model was mainly formed for all participating students to get full knowledge of the African Union entity and learn how to carry-on debates and discussions on important issues. The model is under the academic supervision of Ayat Abu Seada, Asst. Professor of Public Administration within the faculty of Economics and Political Science, Future University. The model- among other models- was elected by the youth leaders league to enter the semi- finals competition.

Faculty of Economics and Political Science is initiating a series of extracurricular activities aiming at boosting the students' skills and knowledge

Greenpeace USA Organization Simulation Model

Future University in Egypt will be the first university worldwide to launch the Greenpeace USA Model* (GPO USA), considered as the most important organization to expose global environmental problems and promote solutions that are essential for our environment.

The Model was proposed and will be supervised by assistant professor of Political Science, Yasmine Zein Al-Abedine. Students from the six faculties at Future University are welcome to participate on a yearly basis. The aim of the model is to Strengthen student public speaking and networking skills, and debate issues of climate change impact in all disciplines.

ECONOMOS

ECONOMOS model is one of the first educational economic models that gives value and attention to all students not only economic major students. It clarifies what happens in the real world and raises the knowledge of students about the economy. It will address the global economic challenges and how economy and investments work. But most importantly in an untraditional facilitating way of learning. ECONOMOS academic advisor is Associate professor of Economics, Abeer Rashdan.

The Debate Club

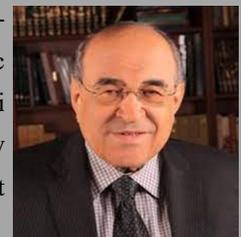

The debate club is a simulation body of FEPS -FUE that introduces students to the methods of discussion and effective opinion and argumentation building skills. Students are exposed to various issues and topics related to the fields of specialization in the faculty and beyond and learn how to effectively and scientifically present various sides of the issue at hand, while promoting and practicing an environment of tolerance and mutual respect. The club's academic advisor is Assistant professor of Political Science, Sara Moneir.

Faculty Achievements

- ⇒ The paper entitled "Perspective Chapter: Institutional Structural Reform and Sustainable Resilience," authored by Professor Salwa Thabet, has successfully undergone the review process and has been accepted for publication in the Open Access book titled "The Future of Public Administration-Adapting to a Dynamic World."
- ⇒ Associate Professor Noura Eissa was appointed vice dean for student Services, and Associate professor, Abeer Rashdan was appointed Head of the Economics Department.

Upcoming Public lecture by DR. Moustafa EL-Feki on Education and Personality Building

The Faculty of Economics and Political science is organizing a public lecture by Dr. Moustafa El-Feki entitled "Education and Personality Building," on October 16, 2023, at Future University Theatre.

Welcome to our Faculty

We are delighted that you're Joining us

 Prof. Mai Mogib Prof. Mai Mogib is joining FEPS as the new Vice Dean for Community Service and Environmental Development. Dr. Mai's field of Specialization is Political Science	 DR. Rania Ramadan Dr .Rania Ramdan is joining FEPS as an assistant professor of Economics. Dr. Rania has been teaching Economics since 1999. She got her PHD, Master and Bachelor degrees from The Faculty of Economics and Political Science, Cairo University.	 DR. Nilly Kamal Dr. Nilly Kamal will be joining FEPS as an Assistant professor of Political Science. DR. Nilly is a Lecturer and writer. She had previously worked as a senior researcher at Cairo University and Waseda University in Tokyo.
---	---	--

Shahd Emad
Teaching Assistant -Political Science Department

Hana ElShinawy
Teaching Assistant - Political Science Department

Aya Mohamed
Teaching Assistant - Public Administration Department