

The second theme of Al-Aqsa Flood: National Security Challenges- A Strategic View

The Faculty of Economics and Political Science at Future University in Egypt hosted a seminar on "Al Aqsa Flood" on November 6, 2023. Major General Dr. Samir Farag discussed the challenges facing Egyptian national security, the ongoing conflict in Gaza, and the future of Egypt's foreign policy. The event attracted significant attendance and engagement among faculty, students, and the guest speaker.

DR. Samir Farag during his Speech, and obtaining his Medal of Honor from the Faculty Dean, Prof. Salwa Thabet .

FJSS (Future Journal of Social Science) is the official Journal of the Faculty of Economics and Political Science-Future University In Egypt.

FJSS is published online twice per annum, in May and November. It aims at providing an interdisciplinary platform for original research written by authors across the globe targeting the revision, discussion and provision of alternative methods and solutions for already existing or historically prevailing issues. FJSS has already published two volumes with a total of four issues over two years, since May 2021. For more information, please visit <https://digitalcommons.aau.edu.eg/fjss/about.html>

In This Issue

- ◆ National Security Challenges
- ◆ FJSS
- ◆ Jurisprudence of National Objectives
- ◆ Cairo Reverse Leverage
- ◆ Egyptian Center for Foreign Affairs Activities
- ◆ Bibliotheca Alexandria trip
- ◆ Symposium Participation
- ◆ Video Podcasts
- ◆ Cultural Day of Azerbaijan
- ◆ PMM Project
- ◆ Audio Podcast
- ◆ Dean Program Participation
- ◆ Visit to Electoral Campaign Headquarter
- ◆ Public Policy Lecture
- ◆ Models Activities
- ◆ Internship
- ◆ Korea-Egypt Youth Exchange Program
- ◆ Meet our Alumnus

Jurisprudence of National Objectives

The third seminar on the theme of "Aqsa Flood" titled "Jurisprudence of National Objectives" was conducted by the Faculty of Economics and Political Science at Future University in Egypt. The event took place on November 20, 2023, at the University's theater. The distinguished guest speaker at the event was his Eminence, the Mufti of the Arab Republic of Egypt, Dr. Shawky Allam. The event also featured Mr. Hamdy Rezk, a prominent Egyptian writer and journalist, who served as the event moderator. Additionally, addresses were delivered by Prof. Ebada Sarhan, the president of the university, and Prof. Salwa Thabet, the Dean of the Faculty. The occasion was also attended by members of the Faculty and student body.

His Eminence, Dr. Shawki Allam posing with the university president, Prof. Ebada Sarhan, the university vice-president, Prof. Nevine Ragui, Faculty Dean, Prof. Salwa Thabet and Journalist Hamdy Rezk.

Political Science Seminar: Cairo Reverse Leverage

The political Science Department held its second seminar on Cairo's Reverse Leverage: Egypt's arms supply from Washington and Moscow after 2013 presented by Dr. Ahmed Mahdi, Associate Professor of Political Science and Acting Head of the Department. Faculty members, staff and students attended the very informative event.

FEPS-FUE students and alumni invited to attend an event at the Egyptian Council for Foreign Affairs

The Egyptian Council for Foreign Affairs organized an event featuring Ambassador Wafaa Basim, who serves as a member of the United Nations Committee on Civil and Political Rights, Assistant Minister of Foreign Affairs, and former Permanent Representative of Egypt to the European Headquarters of the United Nations in Geneva. The purpose of the event was to discuss the international agreements within the United Nations framework that have led to the establishment of various bodies focused on human rights. This study aims to assess the level of countries' adherence to the provisions outlined in these accords, while also examining Egypt's stance towards these agreements. The event was attended by a cohort of individuals comprising FEPS students and alumni invited by ambassador Mohamed Al-Orabi, Former Foreign Minister of Egypt, Diplomat, and Head of the Egyptian Council for Foreign Affairs.

Bibliotheca Alexandrina trip

The Faculty of Economics and Political Science organized a field trip for Faculty Members and Students, to Bibliotheca Alexandrina on November 9, 2023.

Faculty Member participates in a Regional Symposium

Assistant professor of Political Science, Dr. Yasmine Zein El-Abedine participated in the Regional Symposium of the Center for Mediterranean and International Studies in Tunisia, held between November 28 to 30, 2023. Dr. Yasmine presented a paper on "The impact of the Cultural Dimension on the Role of Greenpeace Organization in promoting Human Rights.: A comparative Study between a sample of Member and Non-Member States (1985-2023).

Tune in to the Faculty's video Podcasts

فضفضة

The Faculty of Economics and Political Science was pleased to welcome Professor Ahmed Youssef, a Political Science professor, as well as his Eminence, Dr. Shawky Allam, the Mufti of the Arab Republic of Egypt, Ambassador Mohamed Al-Orabi and Professor Salwa Thabet to share insightful perspectives on current affairs in special episodes.

Links to the episodes:

حلقة أ.د. أحمد يوسف

حلقة أ.د شوقي علام

حلقة السفير محمد العرابي

حلقة أ.د سلوي ثابت

Speakers

Cultural Day of Azerbaijan at Opera House

Selected Students from the Faculty of Economics and Political Science within Future University in Egypt were invited to attend the Cultural Day of Azerbaijan event at the Opera House by the Azerbaijan Ambassador, and, Former Foreign Minister of Egypt, Diplomat and Head of Egyptian Council for Foreign Affairs, Ambassador Mohamed Al-Orabi.

Palestinian cause through the Lens of PMM Students

Political Mass Media Students, under the guidance of Dr. Reham Gamal, showcased their creativity in a captivating video.

Palestinian Cause through the lens of PMM students

Political Mass media Students during their presentation

Tune in to our Audio Podcasts

The Political Mass media department is proud to have completed four episodes of season 2 of its audio podcast by Thouraya Emad. (الزاوية العامية) stay tuned for the third season of audio podcast (المفيدة) by Mariam Fathelbab

Faculty Dean, Prof. Salwa Thabet, Guest speaker on the Importance of Presidential Elections' Participation at the (Maspero here) program (ماسبيرو هنا) with presenter, Dr. Khaled Saad.

https:// fb.watch/

African Model visit presidential Campaign Headquarter

The African Union Model students were part of a delegation of young people from the Youth Leaders Foundation that visited Mr. Abdel Fattah El-Sisi's presidential campaign Headquarter. The purpose of the visit was to demonstrate the presidential candidate's keen interest in the youth issues.

Public Policy between Academic and Reality

The Public Administration Department within the Faculty of Economics and Political Science-FUE held a workshop on "Public Policy between Academic and Reality" on November 14, 2023. Mohamed Makadi, FEPS Alumni and researcher at the Public Policy Forum, discussed the different roles of policy makers and decision makers, the analysis phases of public policy, and opportunities for young individuals to participate in policy formulation.

The participation of the African Union Simulation Model in the training of the Youth Leaders Foundation, held in partnership with the National Council for women

The National Council for Women, in cooperation with the Youth Leaders Foundation (YLF), and within the activities of the Council's Youth Committee, continues to implement training camps for participating university student activities in the Leaders League 4 program. The training program included learning about the foundations and principles of financing for small projects and youth initiatives.

Greenpeace simulation model-FUE officially received an invitation to attend cop28 in Dubai

Three FEPS students and members of the Greenpeace Simulation Model attended an online session within the United Nations Climate Change Conference, UNCCC COP28, by the title, "Circular Thinking for Climate Action," on December 1st, 2023.

AUM Executive Director Speech at the Women's empowerment Initiative

Nourhan Reda, AUM Executive Director, highlighted the significance of students' activities, particularly simulation models, and the challenges faced by women in leadership roles. She praised the success of IDSC model members and the support provided by FUE, academic advisor, DR Ayat Abou Saeda, and Bassel ELkalaf, the model founder.

Internship with the Ministry of Planning and Economic development

FEPS student, Hatem Hossam El-Din, has completed an internship at the National Institute for Governance and Sustainable Development at the career path unit from 17 September to 30 October 2023. The internship comes within the sustainable development ambassador initiative in cooperation with future university in Egypt.

Annual conference of the Egyptian Council for Foreign Affairs

The Faculty of Economics and Political Science received an invitation from Ambassador, Mohamed Al-Orabi, Head of the Egyptian Council for Foreign Affairs and Diplomat, for students to attend the annual conference for the Egyptian Council for Foreign Affairs (ECFA) 2023. Students of the Faculty were fortunate enough to attend the conference with an agenda focusing on the The Palestinian issue between settlement efforts and liquidation attempts.

FEPS Student part of the youth delegation representing Egypt in South Korea

FEPS student, Hady EL-Eraky was one of the representatives of the Egyptian Ministry of Youth and Sports to participate in the delegation to visit the South Korean Ministry of Gender Equality and Family, a key partner in Egypt's youth diplomacy. The trip provided an opportunity to explore South Korea's rich culture and development history, engaging with Ambassador Khaled Abdelrahman at the Egyptian embassy in South Korea and senior officials. The trip also highlighted the importance of empowering youth as global change agents, highlighting the need for their energy, passion, and fresh perspectives in forging collaboration and mutual respect in international relations. The journey demonstrated the transformative role of youth diplomacy in bridging national divides.

Meet our Alumnus and what they had to say about FEPS

Mohamed Makadi is a Political researcher at second version of public policy forum -cabinet of ministries

Michele Mohsen is currently pursuing her master's degree in International Political Economy

FEPS-FUE was an incredible journey for me since day one. I always had a passion to explore politics and inside the faculty I had the opportunity to learn more and know more about it with amazing staff from first year to last year. FUE gave me valuable knowledge through the experience of my dearest professors who helped in building my personal skills and professional skills by broadening my mindset.

My time at the Faculty of Economics and Political Science has been a game-changer for me, both personally and professionally. From the very start, my interest in economics and political science was sparked, and the faculty's amazing academic staff always had my back, pushing me to strive for more. Additionally, representing our university at various events not only boosted my confidence but also made my learning experience more hands-on. The faculty has been a supportive community that has shaped not only my knowledge but also my career goals, making my journey truly enriching.

Ahmed Mohamed, is currently pursuing a master's degree in International Political Economy

Yara Degwy is a Public Relations Specialist at FUE

Reflecting on my university experience, I express immense gratitude for the transformative moments that have molded both my personal and professional growth. Serving as the Vice President of the Arab League Model was a pivotal role, refining my public speaking, communication, and leadership skills. The emphasis on research at the college further enriched my education, with college doctors entrusting me with various projects, fostering a strong foundation in research methodology and critical thinking. I credit the Faculty of Economics and Political Science for nurturing my research and administrative skills and shaping my professional trajectory, character, and providing the groundwork for my professional journey.

My journey at the Faculty of Economics and Political Science taught me to Talk freely but respect other beliefs and opinions, Stand still behind my values and my beliefs, and be open to learning. Student Activities allowed me to be knowledgeable about many fields such as marketing and Public Relations. As I stated in my graduation speech "Inside the walls of our lecture rooms, we were educated on matters that went beyond Trump's late-night tweets, but life lessons that shaped our characteristics contributed to the people we are today and, more importantly, allowed us to envision the kind of people we aspire to be tomorrow, allowed us to choose our own purpose"