

Community Service & Environmental Development Festival and Academic Activities

Date: 1 December 2025

The annual festival was organized by Community Service and Environmental Development Sector- Faculty of Pharmacy at Future University in Egypt to strengthen collaboration between students, healthcare professionals, industry leaders, and alumni, while showcasing innovation, employability, and professional readiness in pharmacy practice fields. The event was held under the patronage of university leadership and prominent professional syndicates, with the participation of over 400 students and 40 external VIP guests from healthcare institutions, pharmaceutical companies, and professional training organizations.

The program featured eight scientific sessions delivered by 12 experts from academia, industry, hospitals, and alumni, covering key topics in pharmacy practice, including:

- Session 1: Bridging Academia to Industry
- Session 2: Career Paths in Health Policy
- Session 3: Food Supplements Manufacturing in Egypt
- Session 4: Updates on Hospital Pharmacy
- Session 5: Breast Cancer & Nutrition
- Session 6: FIP and Egypt: Opportunities and Regional Leadership
- Session 7: Why Do Some People Succeed, and Others Fail?
- Session 8: Pharmacist Entrepreneurs (Alumni-Focused)

In addition, the festival included industry exhibitions, applied training workshops (including cosmetics formulation via FFIT), student scientific posters and case presentations, alumni success stories, and community health initiatives such as breast cancer awareness, blood donation, and One Health activities.

Overall, the event provided a dynamic platform connecting education, industry, and community engagement while reinforcing professional development and social responsibility.
